

Identity and Access Management

Moran Technology Consulting is an experienced and proven provider of consulting services to the education industry. We are intimately familiar with both the needs and the challenges education organizations face in trying to provision, manage and secure their digital identities. We offer a full range of consulting services to assist our clients in planning, designing and implementing highly secure and reliable Identity and Access Management (IAM) solutions.

Managing campus identity data is extremely challenging. The data that describes applicants, students, staff, faculty, alumni, etc. is often located on multiple systems serving diverse purposes and can change frequently. Identity and access management solutions make it possible to synchronize and manage user identity attributes and authentication information across diverse systems.

True IAM solutions aren't only about technology. IAM is an integrated system of business processes, policies and technologies that enable organizations to facilitate and control their users' access to critical online applications and resources.
